

Galston Breeder Reigns Supreme

"What a great way to finish off the Autumn Show season."

This was the reaction of Galston alpaca breeder Sue Maynard of Gunnamatta Stud Alpacas following her success at the Hawkesbury Ag Show where her medium fawn adult male, Gunnamatta Catalyst, was awarded Supreme Champion.

In total we attended five shows and managed to get 16 firsts, 3 seconds, 3 Reserve Champions and 5 Champions in addition to the big one. The team comprised of various colours, including Light Fawn, Medium Fawn and Grey. "Given the colours involved our results were particularly gratifying. We've been focusing on producing coloured alpacas and it's fairly uncommon for such animals to be awarded Championship ribbons, let alone Supreme Champion," said Sue.

The team, along with a number of other young alpacas, have now been shorn in an attempt to have their fleeces presentable for the National Alpaca Show to be held in Tamworth in October.
